

One in five children has a mental illness.

This silent crisis needs your voice.

One in five kids is experiencing debilitating anxiety, depression, a social disorder or another serious mental health concern. But only one in five of them get the help they need. Odds are, you know a parent that is dealing with this right now. Speak out. Stop the stigma. There is help--and hope.

Learn more at 1in5minds.org